

Harry's Story

Every once in a while a call comes in from a shelter saying they have a Collie, but when we go to see the dog we discover it's a mix. Harry was one of those dogs. Because Harry's time was running out at the shelter, we decided to foster him and find him a home. Harry's now with a loving family and is a very happy dog. When we picked him up, Harry was about 30 pounds underweight, but his new home is helping to rectify that. Harry turned out to be one of the sweetest dogs and seemed very grateful for our help.
